

Guru Randhawa, judge on Love Me India

Diwali being a festival of new beginnings and positive energy, brings with it a unique warmth of togetherness and happiness. It is this very thought that has always built a desire within me to make another person's Diwali, khaas for them. While I do make it a point to spend some extra time with my family and friends, in some small ways, either by visiting an NGO with Diwali gifts or donating food, I ensure that another person also gets to celebrate their Diwali. I have always believed in celebrating a quiet and peaceful Diwali and hence feel that fire crackers must be kept to bare minimum use. I feel a complete ban on crackers might deprive the citizens of their celebrations, but it's time the latter realize the harmful effects of its usage and accordingly curb their actions. On this Diwali, I urge people to celebrate an eco-friendly Diwali and share the happiness of this festival with others as well." Eisha Singh as Zara from Ishaq Subhan Allah said, "Diwali is my favorite festival and I always look forward to celebrating it with my relatives. Every year, I visit my hometown Bhopal on this occasion and celebrate with my friends and family. We always do a small puja at home and dress up in our best traditional attire and indulge in some amazing delicacies. I feel that the Supreme Court has taken a right decision of allowing people to burst crackers for 2 hours to keep up the spirit of festivities. Everyone must enjoy celebrating this beautiful festival of lights and I would like to wish all a very Happy and prosperous Diwali." (19-8)

Due to strong emotional bonds, it's never easy for a father to give his daughter away in marriage. But love charts its course and the time comes for the girl to leave her father's comfortable nest to be with the man of her dreams. This show revolves around the bond between a prospective groom - Arjun, and his prospective father-in-law, Sanjeev Saklecha. Aamir Khan on Kaun Banega Crorepati 10

Ahmedabad: Tonight's KBC Karamveer episode is going to be an episode giving out a strong message about hard work, grit and patience. This season, Sony Entertainment Television's Kaun Banega Crorepati 10 has seen some very strong individuals who have single handedly taken up a cause to help the common man and with a, 'Never Give Up' attitude, have crossed the storm and come out victorious. The viewers will see Karamveer Gazi Jalaluddin who runs two schools by only charging ₹5 a month on the show tonight along with Bollywood's Perfectionist Superstar Aamir Khan who claimed that he would move mountains to help people like Gazi.

Gazi, who proudly supports child education blessed the KBC set. Being a poor and unprivileged person, he found out various ways of getting others educated by learning and driving a taxi in Kolkata. Interestingly he has helped others learn riding a taxi on the condition that they spare ₹5 from their income and should help at least 2 people by donating ₹5 for his cause. He also comes up with various ways of marketing his cause and some of them have been very unique. He promotes his cause by pasting banners and posters on his own taxi. Host Amitabh Bachchan and Aamir Khan were highly impressed with his marketing skills. (19-8)
